

The Union Flag and its Constituent Parts (Square Hama Bead Peg Boards)

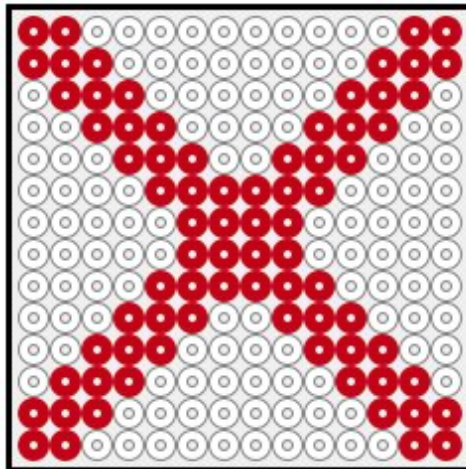

Scotland, St Andrews:

120 x dark blue (no.08)
76 x white (no.01)

England, St George:

120 x white (no.01)
48 x red (no.05)

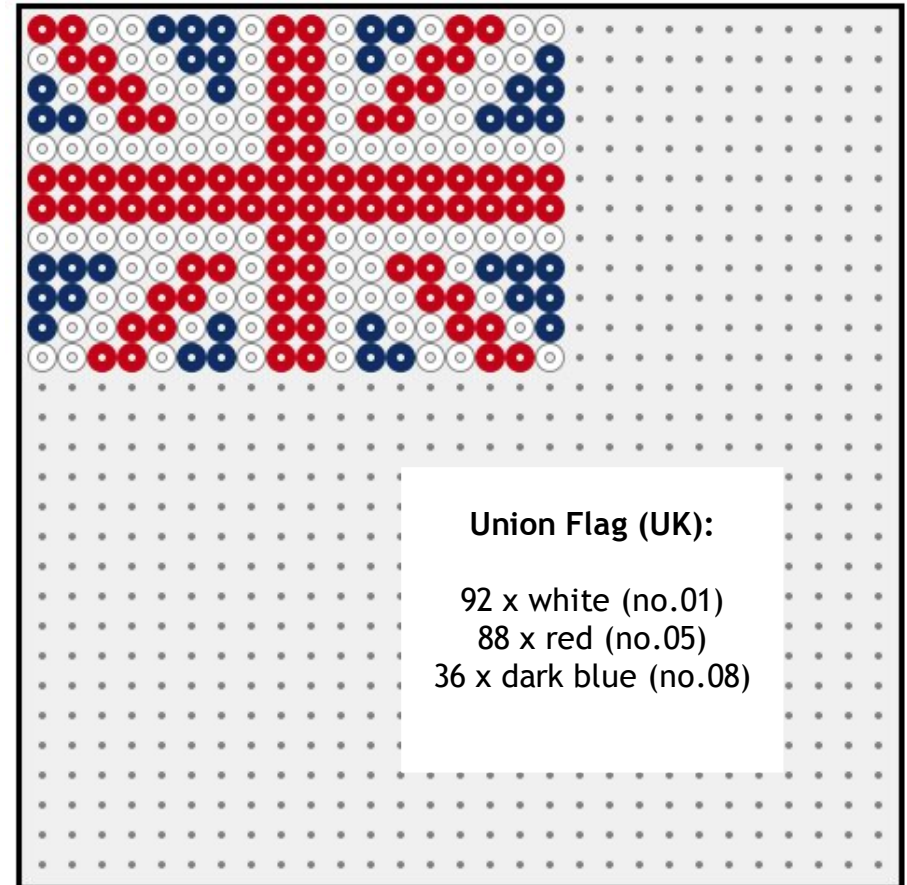

St Patrick:

120 x white(no.01)
76 x red (no.05)

NB: This is the 'northern Ireland' contribution of the Union Flag, but this is not the flag of modern day Northern Ireland. There has not been an officially recognised flag since 1972.

The Union Flag is the flag of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

It combined flags from Scotland, England and Ireland. Wales was not recorded in its own right because it was already legally part of England when the design was adopted. For a Welsh flag design visit: <http://ideas4kids.org/55>

Union Flag (UK):

92 x white (no.01)
88 x red (no.05)
36 x dark blue (no.08)
